RE: Publication of Temporary Protected Status Determinations

Dear Acting Secretary Duke and Director Cissna,

We the 126 undersigned represent organizations that are comprised of, represent, and advocate on behalf of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) holders. We write to request the immediate publication of the Federal Register Notices associated with the TPS determinations for Honduras, Nicaragua, and Haiti released on Nov. 6 and Nov. 20, respectively.

We are deeply troubled by what appears to be a trend under the current administration involving the release of TPS determinations on or after the 60-day statutory requirement as well as extended delays in the publication of Federal Register Notices. While we appreciate the amount of time and effort that goes into the decision process, we are deeply concerned about the impact of these delays.

The Immigration and Nationality Act requires, “at least 60 days before the expiration of a country’s TPS designation or extension, the Secretary, after consultation with appropriate Government agencies, must review the conditions in a foreign state designated for TPS and determine whether the conditions for the TPS designation continue to be met. The [Secretary] shall provide on a timely basis for the publication of notice of each such determination, and, in the case of an affirmative decision, the period of extension . . .”. 8 U.S.C. § 1254a(b)(3)(A); INA § 244(b)(1) (emphasis added).

This year, the TPS determinations for Sudan and South Sudan were expected on Sept. 4. Two weeks later, USCIS released the TPS determinations for these countries, extending the designation for South Sudan and terminating the designation for Sudan. In that Sept. 18 communication, Acting Homeland Security Secretary Duke indicated the decision to terminate TPS for Sudan would be managed in an orderly fashion. Unfortunately, this announcement was followed by a Federal Register Notice that was posted for pre-publication and withdrawn, causing confusion in the field and anxiety among TPS holders. The final Notice was published on Oct. 11, five weeks after the anticipated decision date.

Failure to provide clear and timely instruction to the public on the necessary steps and timelines to comply with these decisions is not only contrary to the statute but is inconsistent with the stated objective of orderly implementation. Prior TPS Federal Register Notices informed employers of employment verification (I-9), documentation, and other requirements. Without this information, employers of TPS holders are unable to properly comply with I-9 processing in a manner consistent with the statute. Failure to timely publish Federal Register Notices also confuses TPS holder employees as to the documentation requirements for TPS, creating obstacles to the timely submission of applications for work authorization and efficient adjudication by the agency.

As a practical matter, the delayed issuance of the Federal Register Notices can have a costly impact on TPS holders and their families by potentially disrupting employment, travel and driving authorization, health insurance, and access to higher education. The delayed publication also inhibits meaningful and productive outreach by USCIS, foreign governments, and legal and social services providers attempting to provide guidance to constituents.

The delayed issuance of the Federal Register Notices also affects the TPS community by creating undue stress, panic, and suffering. This is particularly painful and confusing for TPS holders who have just learned that their TPS protection has been terminated.

In conclusion, the failure to timely publish Federal Register Notices is contrary to the statute and we urge you comply with these obligations. If you have any questions, please contact Jill Marie Bussey at the Catholic Legal Immigration Network, Inc. at jbussey@cliniclegal.org.
